Exercise

Go to page
https://docs.python.org/3/tutorial/introduction.html

to the paragraph 3.1. Using Python as a Calculator¶

- practice with the described operators.

Just to practice with the language,
- write a module containing for each operator a python function executing the operation,
- write your own script importing the module, reading input from command line (refer to python_2 lesson slides), executing the operations using the functions previously coded,
- print the operators and the result for each function